SUBJECT: Fourth Consecutive Increase In Jordan's Fuel Prices Since Liberalization

REFS: A) Amman 785
B) Amman 628

¶1. The Government of Jordan (GOJ) announced on June 9 new prices of petroleum products, which rose by four to 13.5% over last month depending on the product. This represents the fourth increase since the GOJ liberalized fuel prices in February 2008. An interagency committee determines prices based on average international market prices during the preceding 30 days and other costs, such as freight and handling (reftels). The GOJ has decided to maintain for an indefinite period the subsidized price of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG). The LPG subsidy has now cost the GOJ JD 85 million (USD 120 million) in 2008, and the Finance Ministry is preparing a supplemental request to address budget shortfalls (septel). The GOJ had planned to lift the LPG subsidy in April, following an unseasonably cold winter, but opted to offset price increases in fuel and basic commodities by maintaining the subsidy.

¶2. Current retail prices of petroleum products in Jordan follow:
